A HANDSOME TRIBUTE.

Senator Dawes, of Massachusetts, made a speech at a great meeting in Eaglewood,

New Jersey, the other day, in which he spoke of Mr. Blaine thus:

"I had been in Congress six years when Mr. Blaine came into public life, and I have known him from that day to this intimately, both in his priate life and in his public career, and I think I am able to judge whether a man is honest in public life or not, and I should be able to do so, and I to the truth if I did not declare my solemn conviction that there is no man in public life whose public and private character is more free from stain than Mr. Blaine's. I have known him thoroughly, and I have summered and wintered with him. I have been on instant terms of friendship with him; have differed with him on political questions; have quarreled with him and have quarreled in and trusted him. I believe him to have been actuated by the purest motives in all his public acts, and to be ambitious to connect his name with an administration of this Government that shall comprised the grand possibilities before the American people, and shall assert the power of the republic wherever its flag flows."

THE MONEY LETTER.
A Democratic Campaign Document.
NEW YORK, AUG. 15. The long delayed issue of the Money Letter, will be published today. It is largely made up of the papers of the late Henry J. Morgan, who was killed in the battle of Gettysburg. The document is a collection of letters and papers which Morgan wrote during his life, and which he intended to publish after his death. The letters are written in a simple, straightforward manner, and are full of interesting information about the life and times of Morgan. The document is a valuable addition to the literature of the Democratic Party, and is one which every member of the party should read.

Jhy Eye See and the Record.
PHILLIPS, Three Past Miles.
PHILLIPS, AUG. 15. Ten thousand people visited the fair today to witness the attempt of Jhy Eye See and the Record. The fair was held at Phillips, and was attended by a large and delighted audience. The fair was a success, and the people enjoyed it very much. The fair was held at Phillips, and was attended by a large and delighted audience.
